Cheap Lumber

There is quality in lumber, do not forget that. Poor lumber means a cold crude house, difficult to live in, difficult to rent, and difficult to sell. I carry cheap lumber suitable for some purposes, but the kind you want in your house, from the best mills in my trading area. I store in weather proof sheds. Did you ever consider how much your carpenters time cost you to work up poor lumber. I am not advertising any cheap lumber but I sell cheap always. Quick sales, no profits, no money. Have you seen that shingle I am selling at $2.00 per M<sup>2</sup>? Have you seen those boards at $18.00 per M<sup>2</sup>? I carry a complete stock of lumber. Anything you want you will find in my yard. No cash deposits required. You get what you see and buy and both quality and satisfaction is guaranteed.

If you contemplate building, call and see me. I can figure on that plan and tell you what it will cost any time.

Keeping Himself Dry

Far to cabby—"How do you manage to keep yourself dry in this wet weather? Don't you wear a waterproof?"

"Cabby—"Na, ma, sir; I just tak' a salt herring in the mornin' afore I come out, and it keeps me dry a day."

The Real Liver Pill—A torpid liver means a disordered system, mental depression, listlessness and in the end, if left uncorrected, a moribund state of debility. These were best medicines to arouse the liver to healthy action is Parmelee's Vegetable Pill. This is a compound of various vegetable substances of cardo-saponin and no other pills have their fine qualities. They do not grate or pain and they are agreeable to the most sensitive stomach.

The metal lithium is less than one-fourth as heavy as aluminum, but it oxidizes so rapidly that it is of no practical use.

All mothers can put away anxiety regarding their suffering children when they have Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator to give relief. Its effect are sure and long-lasting.

REST AND PEACE

Fall Upon Distracted Households When Cuticura Enters

Sleep for skinned babies and rest for tired, fatigued mothers is had in the bath with Cuticura Soap and the gentle soother with Cuticura Ointment. This treatment, in the majority of cases, affords immediate relief. It is the most distressing affliction among human beings, and caused tumours, sores, rashes, inflammations, irritations and chafings, of infancy and childhood, particularly among infants and young children, and points to a speedy cure when other remedies fail.

Women and worried parents need not fear that this gentle soap will not remove all dirt and medical treatment results its highest expectations and may be applied to the youngest infant as well as to the mother of an adult. The Cuticura Remedies are sold by druggists everywhere.

"I trust, Miss Smith," remarked a persevering young man, as he rose to depart, "that you have taken up too many of your valuable time."

"Not at all, my dear boy," said the girl. "The time you have taken up has been of no value to me whatever. I assure you!"

An Encouraging Message

I have a message of hope and good cheer, of encouragement and inspiration to every suffering woman. I have endured the agonies of a ruptured womb, and the constant pain and mental agony almost to the point of despair, and I have been cured from this curse by a simple remedy which accompanies physical well-being. See my story, and this change has been brought about in a few days.

In addition I have had the privilege and pleasure of introducing this simple and effective remedy to thousands of LILY A. trials, and have received thousands of enthusiastic acknowledgments of the blessings it has brought to them. The

Dear Mrs. Currah—Your words of comfort and encouragement yesterday, in reply to your question about my health, I am thankful to say that am much better. After a week of rest and quiet, I am now able to get around again. I feel the pain increasing and so did not go to see the doctor again until a week ago. The doctor said I was still in great pain all night and was very sick the whole week.

I am now feeling much better and my husband to send for it right away, as I was too sick to travel. I am now able to get around again. I feel the pain increasing and so did not go to see the doctor again until a week ago. The doctor said I was still in great pain all night and was very sick the whole week.

For several years I have suffered until agony. This suffering was due to a ruptured womb, and I have had three months of good rest, and am now well, never better in my life. I have not had the old pain since, often and still am not able to get around again. I am now able to get around again. I feel the pain increasing and so did not go to see the doctor again until a week ago. The doctor said I was still in great pain all night and was very sick the whole week.

I am now feeling much better and my husband to send for it right away, as I was too sick to travel. I am now able to get around again. I feel the pain increasing and so did not go to see the doctor again until a week ago. The doctor said I was still in great pain all night and was very sick the whole week.

Receiving, as I do dozens of such reports each day, I feel impelled to make known to my friends, relatives, neighbors, physicians, dentists, pharmacists, and remedies in that it is not taken internally. It is a strictly local treatment, and is applied directly to the tissues, expelling the stagnant foreign matter and thus removing the irritation and compressing the nerves and growing tissue, giving physical relief, and removing the cause of the disease. It is being actively studied and even if you use no more than the Free Trial Treatment you will be very materially benefited.

FREE TRIAL OFFER

I want every reader of this, who suffers in any way from pain, irritation, swelling, suppuration, inflammation or congestion of the womb, heart, lungs, kidneys, liver, intestines, etc., to send me their addresses, and I will forward an offer.

Yours truly, Wm. E. H. F.

Mrs. FRANCES E. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

Ghastly Retrieving

Lord Robert Innes-Ker, at a dinner in New York, said of a New York wit: "His wit always hits the mark. It is like the shooting of a friend of mine."

"My friend went rabbit shooting one day with his favorite dog. A rabbit suddenly appeared and my friend let go both barrels."

"The dog, that never failed to retrieve a shot, uttered a mournful cry and returned with its own tail in its mouth and it repeatedly at my friend's feet."

The fat fellow at the children's fancy dress ball suddenly ceased playing, and glared after a wee maiden dancing in a fit of merriment.

By a unanimous vote of the Council on Monday night last it was decided to call a special meeting in the Council Chambers to discuss fire brigade matters. This is a step in the right direction and it is to be hoped that all of the officers and men of the brigade will attend. There has been a tendency in times past, at meetings called to discuss various public matters, to walk in any time between the opening and closing of the meeting. This is not as it should be as the latecomers not only inconvenience those that are already there, but deprive themselves of a knowledge of the earlier proceedings of the meeting. The intending attendants at the meeting on Monday night should bear this in mind and if possible be on time. There is a supply of good men and a good equipment and it only needs a real business meeting and good drill to make a first-class fire brigade.

The resolution passed at the Council meeting on Monday night in respect to notifying the rate-payers to clean up their portion of back alleys, etc., was a good one. To have heaps of manure and other matter lying around is not only unsanitary but very unsightly. With an early spring there is a great influx of settlers into the country and to see a town that is not perfectly cleaned, does not tend to improve their opinion of the people who dwell in it, and it is almost safe to say would turn some away.

Town Council

A regular meeting of the Town Council was held in the Council Chamber on Monday night last. There were present Mayor Atkins, Councillors Good, Hungerperger and St. Clair.

It was resolved that all taxpayers be notified that all manure and rubbish must be removed from alleys on or before the 15th of April or same will be removed by town and expenses added to taxes.

It was decided to hold a special meeting of the Council on Monday night next at the Council Chamber at eight o'clock to discuss Fire Brigade matters and that the Clerk write all officers and members of the Fire Brigade requesting their presence at the meeting.

The Council then adjourned.

White Bread vs. Brown

A curious fallacy, says The Lancet, has been going the round of certain English political squabbles recently to the effect that the term "white bread" implies a kind of famine food, whereas in several civilized countries it is just as much the staple and normal article of diet as is our white loaf. In some respects rye presents certain advantages over wheat, and in others wheat may be better than rye. Rye contains a rather greater percentage of soluble carbohydrates than wheat, but somewhat less gluten, although the total protein matters amount to the same in both flours. Chemical analysis shows very trifling differences of composition between the two cereals. One distinctive advantage of rye bread is that it keeps fresh longer than wheat bread. Rye bread also has distinct laxative properties.

MALCOM KIRK.

A Tale of Moral Heroism
in Overcoming the World.

By CHARLES M. SHELDON,
Author of "In His Steps," "Character of Philip St. George," "Robert Gruelle's Seven Days,"

(Copyright, 1886, by the Advance Publishing Co.)

Faith paused as if she suddenly felt that Malcom Stanley was looking at her with the greatest interest. She knew that he had been deeply drawn to love Faith right then, and there more truly than he yet had done; it was owing to the sudden glimpse he had caught of a young soul on fire to be and do for the good of others.

But Faith's plain led to a discussion which went long and weary, and there were many details that we cannot follow it in detail here. It is enough to say that when Faith went back to Chicago she carried with her a definite plan which she was able sooner than she expected to put into working practice.

Conrad will never forget the anniversary of his arrival in America, when Kirk and his church. It was a week of surprises to him and Dorothy. The town waked up in sudden, hearty, western fashion; and before he knew it Malcom became the recipient of a whole town's honor.

Sunday the church had appropriate exercises to celebrate their 25 years' existence. There was a great sermon in the morning by Malcom and papers told stories and chapter numbers in the afternoon. The entire town, young people crowded the church with their meeting and when they adjourned they went out in front of the parsonage and sang a hymn that one of their own members had composed in praise of the church.

The most impressive feature of the day to Malcom was the presence of Mrs. Huntington at the morning service. It was a sadness relieved by one great burst of joy.

"Oh, Mr. Kirk!" said the old woman when she met him, and said, "I am sorry Phil had been sent away. Thank God! I owe my other son to you." She went on to speak of Malcom's efforts which had made the saloon outlaw in Conrad those many years and pointed with pride to the gambling saloon who was a member of the church, and said, "He is your great friend. He'd give the way of Phil and his father if the saloon was here," she said and wrung Malcom's hand and went out, but Malcom knew her heart was still hungry for revenge.

Next day the citizens held a meeting in the courthouse, at which the mayor presided. Malcom was present as the guest of honor. He had tried to prevent any such expression toward him, but Dorothy had found himself powerless to control the enthusiasm given the cause of God's kingdom. His speech was a splendid tribute to the power of righteousness. Throughout it all his modesty and unselfishness had never been more forcibly or beautifully shown than in his own words. The citizens of Conrad remembered that address long years after countless political speeches had faded out of their memories.

It was perhaps significant of the people of Conrad that Dorothy and Dorothy were held in Conrad that no attempt was made that week to present them with a gold watch or a tea set, or any physical token. The church at business session voted to increase Malcom's salary, and they were very anxious to do so for the sake of the parsonage, but the people seemed to know that what would be most acceptable to Malcom Kirk and his wife on that anniversary would be the love of the parish, and they did feel that, and more, for their two little lives, had it meant so much to them.

One incident of that anniversary week illustrated Malcom's character better than any other.

The picture that Stanley had brought to him had been copied in the parsonage, but it was almost ridiculous large for the small room.

Dorothy and Malcom both felt that it was out of place, but the gift meant so much that they were in doubt what was best to do.

The day after Malcom's address in the courthouse one of the managers of the orphans' home that Malcom had been largely instrumental in organizing was calling on Dorothy.

She saw the picture and instantly said: "If only had that in the hall of the home."

"Just the place for it, too," said Malcom when Dorothy told him of it.

Without delay and with Stanley's help, the picture was taken down, taken to the house and hung up in a conspicuous place in a large hallway. It had a remarkable effect on visitors. One ranchman who was never known to give anything to any cause visited the parsonage afterward, and the picture moved him to give $25 to the home.

"The sight of that baby in Mr. Kirk's arms just hypnotized the money out of my pocket," he said afterward.

"That is the sort of hypnotism we believe in," said the matron of the home, and Conrad echoed the sentiment.

When the eventful week was gone, Faith made her preparations to return. Malcom Stanley also announced his night before that he would return into Malcom's study and, with some embarrassment told him what Malcom had seen already, for he and Dorothy had not been able to conceal from each other the fact that the young Englishman had come to have a great liking for Dorothy's companion.

"It seems like a short time, Mr. Kirk, but I love Faith, and I want your consent to let her go."

"I should think her consent would be willing," said Malcom Kirk, with a dash of his old-time wit and without the slightest approach to levity. But he had grown to love Malcom Stanley and felt sure from indications that Faith was not far from the same feelings.

"Perhaps I may write to her?" said Malcom Stanley. "I don't want to call her away from her plans or her profession. Indeed, if I win her heart, we will accomplish more together than separately."

"It is well," said Malcom gravely, and he smiled with a smile. "My dear, I hope you realize what it means to have a 'third girl' problem" to take care of.

"I will gladly assume that," said Stanley, and he went back to his self-respectable office, where he was again a successful attorney.

It soon occurred to him that he even found courage to say something to Faith before he went, for Faith and Dorothy had a conference over the telephone, and Dorothy had been telling her all about the new pastor.

On the next evening Dorothy came up to the platform and stood there with her husband.

They were both reminded of that first night when they had gone into the little church and had made their promise.

"It is not like the old room, Malcom, is it?"

Loretta said it with a feeling as if a Presence was in the church that was not quite earthly.

"No, my dear, God has been very good to us in all these years."

Dorothy crept nearer to him, and Malcom put his arm about her, and they stood out into the dimly lighted church again, and the world seemed was still going on. There was still the rum power to move in one form and another; there were still ugly forms of evil, selfishness in many shapes, to face, but God had generously used these two to stand between him and the world, down on earth. Their children also were going out to fight the same good fight of the faith, to battle for the right, to relieve distress and overcome the world. It seemed almost certain that they would be successful.

Light noted their lines and hastened over the town a banner of peace, and Malcom and Dorothy passed out of the church and into their home with God's blessing in their hearts. It was a quiet evening, but the stars shone bright, and Malcom and Dorothy passed out of the United States and into Canada.

BETTER CLASS COMING*IMMIGRANTS REACHING CANADA ARE MOST DESIRABLE

The United States Said to be Envous of the Canadian Immigration Policy
—Are Alarmed at the Number of American Farmers that are Moving to Canada—Lengthy Report on this Subject Submitted to Congress.

Washington.—A report has been submitted to Congress recently by Senator Billings, in charge of the joint commission in regard to the immigration situation in Canada.

While the most important statement made in the report is that Canada wants immigrants whose purpose is to be agricultural or laborers, either to owners or to laborers, and desires to exclude those immigrants whose presence would tend to the congestion of towns and cities.

Another striking feature of the report is the comparison of immigration into Canada during the past decade with that into the United States. This shows that while 75 per cent. of Canada's immigrants during that period came from northern and western Europe and only 30 per cent. from southern and eastern Europe, the reverse was true in regard to the immigrants entering the United States. The report says:

"The desire to immigrate to Canada from southern and western Europe and unless it is the purpose of such immigrants to enter agricultural pursuits, their emigration into Canada can only be accounted for by the fact that the offer is being made through salaried agents of the Canadian immigration department, who are subservient to a business or commission is paid, and by means of advertising, to secure immigrants from the United Kingdom, Ireland, France, Norway, Sweden, Switzerland and the United States."

Of the total number of immigrants going from the United States to Canada during the past three years, about one-half who immigrated were said to be farmers or farm laborers. Probably no other considerable movement of population from one country to another, says the report, at any time in history is so largely composed of agricultural people.

From 1900 to 1909 in western Canada 25,000 homes-teds were entered for more than 96 per cent. of the number being immigrants divided as follows:

English—20.2 per cent.

Scotch—5.20 per cent.

Irish—1.9 per cent.

Continental Europeans—27.67 per cent.

Americans—49.91 per cent.

Continuing, the report says, Canada gives great liberty to her immigrants and allows them the right of rejections or admissions and allows her officials substantial freedom in the matter of deportation. All persons who become public charges within two years of arrival may be deported. No one is deported from Canada because of previous arrangements made for seasonal employment. The Report continues, "The formation bureaus, in the principal cities both for the benefit of employers of labor and of immigrants seeking employment, are doing a great deal for continental immigration. Canada has adopted a policy which practically excludes Asiatic labor."

Elasticity of the Earth

LONDON.—The elasticity of the earth in relation to its responsiveness to pulls and strains has been the subject of a recent paper by John M. Macintyre, engineer and scientist. He lays claim to having established that the ocean tides have an appreciable effect in depressing land levels.

For instance, tidal waves from the front of so-called landfalls, remedied with a modified form of the seismograph at Bishop's observatory near Liverpool, have proved according to Mihir, that the level of the Irish sea becomes depressed from the increased load of water at every high tide, the effect being to pull the shore more陆地和 make the land slopes steeper.

As the amount of depression is only one inch to seven miles, the distance over which the earth is scientific than of practical importance.

Japan will attack the Philippines, Hawaii and all the Pacific belongs rightly to them. They will not declare war before they are able to prove they are strong enough.

MORE TRAINS FOR THE WEST

Calgary and Edmonton to Have Special Train Service—More Through Trains from Winnipeg

Winnipeg.—That the railway companies intend to provide the growing cities west of Winnipeg with a much improved passenger service is already demonstrated.

The completion of the new line from the south via Saskatoon and Wascana will provide another daily train service, three a week night service, while the Galaxy, the new terminal, is forecasted. This would give the town of Strathcona five trains a day. The Canadian Northern have very extensive plans in view, and are expected to run five trains a day into Edmonton.

In order to fit the through Alberta passenger traffic to the best advantage, the evening trains will also be a through Saskatchewan express from Regina to Edmonton. A daily local train will be run to Fort Macleod. Three trains daily will be operated on the Grand Trunk Pacific at Edmonton, consisting of a through service between Edmonton and Wainwright, and the local between Edmonton and Wainwright.

The Conservative Veto Amendment

The result of the debate was that the committee stage on all three of the vote motions shall be concluded on the night of April 14.

30,000 PEOPLE LEAVING BRITAIN

Increased Proportion of People With Capital Emigrating to Dominion Is Subject to Comment

London.—It is stated that 30,000 immigrants will sail from Liverpool to Canada this month. The rising proportion of people with capital to the subject of considerable concern in the United Kingdom, where it is believed that the institution provides for emigrants who have to wait before shipping offices are open and when often the cost of passage is high.

A branch of the central unemployment body, a newly established league for emigrants, has been formed in South Africa.

The institution states that that body would be delighted to send more to Canada, and that the government of Canada, in view of the great harvest, the shepherds committee of multitudes, filled Him with the power over the harvest, and that the harvest of the sheep is great. The shepherd led the flock to the sheepfold, and the shepherd said, "I am the good shepherd, and I know my sheep, and my sheep know me. As I said to you, I am the good shepherd. They are however, to go to Israel at this time, not to the peoples of Samaria or Judah, for they have not repented, and to the house of Israel, but unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel" (Matt. xxviii. 14).

Lesson II.—Second Quarter, For April 10, 1910.

Text of the Lesson, Matt. ix, 35, to x, 15, 40—Memory Verses, ix, 37, 38. Golden Text, Matt. x, 8—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

This is the only lesson we have on the subject of the most important section, chapter and verse, in closing words of chapter ix, telling of Jesus going everywhere preaching the gospel to the nations, healing the sick, casting out demons, and performing other works of power. It is strange so strangely mysterious people that it all seems to us earthly minded people that it can never be understood.

It is the wonder of the world, that in asking His Father to do this, it is that in asking His Father we may offer ourselves, saying, "Here I am, Lord, to do Your will." Would it not be well to send forth our people to spread the word of God? Are we not wholly His, fully yielded, simply trusting, willing and obedient? We do not say, "I am here," but "Me, Lord, send me, I am here." Then we are, however, to go to Israel at this time, not to the peoples of Samaria or Judah, for they have not repented, and to the house of Israel, but unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel" (Matt. xxviii. 14).

Barn Burned Near Crossfield

A prairie fire which caused a general turnout of the townpeople of Crossfield and the assistance of a number of farmers broke out from a straw stack on the farm of Chas. Hulgren on Wednesday afternoon and swept on destroying the barn of George James and only by superhuman efforts was his residence saved. A high wind was blowing at the time and for a while it looked as though the fire would get beyond control and sweep into the east country doing incalculable damage. Chas. Hulgren set fire to his straw stacks after the snow fell on Monday and before coming to town on the morning of the fire took a look and thought that the fire was out. A high wind came up in the afternoon and shortly after the passing of the north bound passenger, it was noticed that a fire had broken out and fanned by the wind it quickly assumed such alarming proportions that the townfolk were summoned to the scene. After a hard fight the fire was stopped but the stable, seed oats and coltside dog were engulfed in the seething flame. The stable and contents were valued, we understand, at about five or six hundred dollars -- Crossfield Chronicle.

Who Owns the Air?

Does the man who owns a farm own the air above that farm? On this point hangs a very interesting case that is to be tried out in legal circles in the United States before long. It all comes about because of the airship man. Has he the right to navigate the air above a man's land, and no one say him nay? In other words, who owns the air? Has the aviator any more right to fly over a farm than a railway company has to run its trains on the land itself, without first negotiating a right of way? Does a farmer's right be fought hundred acres of land give him control over one hundred acres in extent of air, reaching up to the blue vaulted heavens above?

Here is a problem for the legal fraternity to pore over. It is decided that the farmer has control of the air above as well as the earth beneath his broad acres how is he going to enforce control? Will a mere sign: "Keep out of this air. Trespassers will be prosecuted" do the trick? Hardly, unless aviators are of a different stamp than the average human being. To enforce control the farmer would have to get a flying machine of his own and circle around his acres of air every day on the lookout for trespassers -- Canadian Farm.

The Only Ones that Knew

The late Judge S. S. Bryan, the father of William J. Bryan, once had several children from his smoking. He missed his wife at home and said nothing about it to anyone. A few days later a neighbor came to him and said, "Sage, Judge," he said, "I heard how you have been smoking again." "Yes," replied the judge, very confidentially, "but don't tell anyone. You and I are the only ones that know it."

Mrs. Johnson—Strange that after spending so many years editing a magazine, Mr. Knobtail should go to the interesting business of thinking.

Mr. Johnson—Quite natural, I should think. Dead men, you know, tell no tales.

One Scotch casualty insurance company is offering policies to aviators, while another will extend all future policies to cover the risk of aviation and ballooning.

Mr. Menkins (who is boarding out for a few days)—By the way, Mrs. Perkins, I must confess the woman had bad luck for dinner. She is not the kind of meat to which I have been accustomed." Mrs. Perkins: "Worry likely not, sir. I always gets the best."

"Proposed in a New Style"

A young man who had been in love and who had a fondness in contemplation, decided upon a delicate method of proposing to the latest object of his affections. Accordingly, he sent a telegram to his beloved and before she realized where their footsteps tended they had arrived at the graveyard, where his lost loves lay buried. Standing before the three burials, he said:

"There lies Jeannie, there lies Gertie, and there lies Maggie, and," he added, pointing to the next vacant space and taking her hand, "there lies you."

"You like to be there?"

You see," said a dependent man on Saturday, "some people has good luck and some people has bad luck. Now, I remember I was walking along the street with Tom Jellicles, and he turned down one side of the street and down the other. We had not gone more than halfway down when he found a pocket-book with $50 in it. I took a glass of milk punch was quietly set down on a woman's dress. And so I got acquainted with my present wife. It was always so," added he, with a sigh; "that Tom Jellicles was the luckiest man in the world, and I never had any luck."

Needed Them Badly

Old George Kettle, ached in the Troodon, Hants, N.B., for the other day with a small package wrapped in a newspaper under his arm.

"Telegraph this to my wife down to Dartmouth, Halifax," he said to the telegraph boy, thrusting the package through the little window.

"No, no, George, we can't do anything like that," laimed the clerk.

"Get out of it," said George, angrily.

"We're not to do it. It's my wife's teeth."

A quiet life for numerous hours, irritated by scratching and the groans of discontent from the back benches, exhausted finally:

"Well, I don't care what you say, you can't give me have no whether you like it or not."

"Why, c'mon," inquired a plaintive voice from the back of the hall, "you ain't the bloomin' measles, are you?"

A simple-hearted and truly devout country preacher, who had tasted but few of the drinks of the world, took dinner with a high-toned family, when a glass of milk punch was quietly set down on a woman's dress.

He turned pale with alarm.

"It was always so," added he, with a sigh; "that Tom Jellicles was the luckiest man in the world, and I never had any luck."

He did not get the cure started today.

Runaway Accident

A serious runaway accident occurred on Monday night last, the team belonging to Mr. White side started running away from near the Butte. Mr. Whiteside and his son were in the wagon and the hat of one was blown off. The team was stopped and Mr. Whiteside got out to get it, taking the lines with him, but dropping them as the hat was too far distant to reach. The horses then bolted and galloped down Oster street on to Main street where they collided with another wagon hitched to a post there, turning it clean over and breaking the reach, also upsetting their own wagon, with the son underneath it. He was considerably cut about the face but we understand was fortunate enough to escape serious injury. Here they were stopped, and it was found they had broken the tongue of their own wagon.

STOMACH AGONY

Abolish the Cause, and Misery and Distress of Indigestion will Vanish

Can indigestion be cured? Hundreds of thousands of people who suffer from indigestion, flatulence, biliousness, constipation, diarrhoea, flatulence, bad taste in mouth, and breath, nervousness and other distressing symptoms are asking themselves that question daily. And if these same sounding dyspepsias could only read the thousands of scientific treatises which have suffered as badly as indigestion, they would be better informed and permanently cured by the use of Mi-o-me, the mighty dyspepsia remedy that cures by removing the cause, they would do it. Charles Dowd, author of the book and get along better with Mi-o-me tablets than on themselves on the right road to health at once.

The price of Mi-o-me tablets is only 50 cents, and H. W. Chambers guarantees them to cure indigestion, or money back.

Thin or lean or scrawny people will find Mi-o-me a maker of flesh and blood, because it can extract from the food, which quickly enriches the blood.

It is a safe, reliable, non-poisonous preparation.
